

Navigation 2021 / ENC2021

This will now take place from 15 to 18 NOVEMBER 2021, EDINBURGH

Professor Terry Moore, Conference Chair has been pleased to provide the following update:

‘As Chair of Navigation 2021, I am now delighted to confirm that this major navigation conference will include an in-person element: we will meet at the Edinburgh International Conference Centre from 15-18 November 2021.

‘Delegates may also join virtually.

‘Navigation 2021 is about collaboration and understanding across science, technology and practice – including applications, animal navigation, cognition and human factors. This is shaping up to be a very significant event.’

Further details

Navigation 2021 includes fifteen keynotes across the six conference themes.

There will be three parallel sessions, more than ten exhibitors and twenty posters.

For in-person delegates, evening networking events are also planned, both with the exhibition and at a City venue in Edinburgh.

The organisers have worked hard to keep pricing accessible: £200 for the virtual event and £500 for in-person delegates, with discounts available for students.

The Royal Institute of Navigation (RIN) warmly invites participation from members of all IAIN Institutes of Navigation and across Government, Academia, Industry and all sectors.

Members are invited to contribute to Navigation 2021 to open minds, share ideas and build knowledge and understanding.

Website

Conference website is here: <https://rin.org.uk/Navigation2021>

John Pottle, Director RIN sends best wishes and is hoping to see everyone online or in Edinburgh,